Biography (long descriptive text) – limited to 400 words	Martin Wohlin is a MD, PhD working as a Senior Lecturer in Emergency Medicine at Uppsala University, leading change and creating innovation within Medical Education and Healthcare in Sweden. As an Emergency Physician and Epidemiologist with solid experience in running undergraduate Medical Education he moved with his wife (a GP) and three children to the UK and the Centre for Medical Education in Dundee to get a solid knowledge basis within the field of Medical Education. Martin returned (all too soon) to Sweden and Uppsala University and got the opportunity to combine (mainly interprofessional and

	simulation based) teaching and clinical practice with running a Unit for Medical Education. The ability to "walk the walk and talk the talk" in the Healthcare system, within the University, with decision makers and educationalists has proven valuable when creating educational change at many levels. Martin arrived at the Unit for Medical Education when a first cohort of students, from Uppsala's integrated and problem based medical program, was in their final year and faculty was worn by the implementation process. Today the Unit for Medical Education consists of five persons, all with experience, knowledge and training in Education and Faculty Development, three with PhDs and all with clinical experience from Health or Veterinary care. During 2016 Martin will leave the Unit for Medical Education to focus on clinical innovation and educational research and is very proud to be replacing Sari Ponzer in the Prato Clinical Skills Conference Committee and hope to maintain Saris work for creating equality and non-hierarchical cultures within Academy and Healthcare. Martin's main research interest lies in the field of non-technical skills, clinical reasoning and CPD and he is also a founder of an IT-project (aiming at creating patient empowerment and value based healthcare) called Symptoms.
